PROSPECTIVE CUSTOMER RESEARCH REPORT

---

1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report presents the prospective customer identification and research exercise conducted for Epahubb's flagship products under the Project 50K Revenue Growth and Business Acquisition Campaign.

The objective was to identify potential customers across different business sectors who could benefit from Epahubb's products and services, including Epasmart, TeapPOS, Kromonline and BuyData.

The research combines the organiations recorded in the previous corporate outreach register, and 10 additional organisations identified through market research within the Ashanti Region.

A total of 50 prospective customers have therefore been identified.

The prospects cover different sectors, including education, healthcare, hospitality, retail, personal care, restaurants, trading and other service industries.

Each prospect has been considered according to its business category and potential suitability for one or more of Epahubb's products. Where contact persons, telephone numbers, locations or other information could not be established, such information has been marked as UNKNOWN for subsequent verification.

The report also provides product descriptions, indicative pricing information, prospect classifications and recommendations for converting identified prospects into potential customers.

2. OBJECTIVES OF THE RESEARCH

The main objectives were to:

1. Identify at least 50 prospective customers for Epahubb's four flagship products.
2. Identify schools, SMEs, retailers, corporate organisations, vendors and other potential customers within the Ashanti Region.
3. Identify relevant decision-makers, including owners, headmasters, administrators and managers.
4. Record available organisation names, contact information and business locations.

5. Match prospective customers with products that may address their business or operational needs.
6. Classify prospects according to their potential product suitability and likelihood of conversion.
7. Establish a foundation for future outreach, product demonstrations, proposals and commercial partnerships.

3. EPAHUBB FLAGSHIP PRODUCTS

The research focuses on four products.

3.1 Epasmart

Product Category: School Management System

Epasmart is a school management system intended to support educational institutions in managing their administrative and academic activities digitally.

Potential customers include private schools, basic schools and other educational institutions.

Potential areas of application include:

- Student information management.
- Academic records and assessment.
- Attendance management.
- School administration.
- Management of student information and related records.

Indicative Pricing: GH₵5–GH₵10 per student, multiplied by the number of students/users in the system.

3.2 TeapPOS

Product Category: UNKNOWN – Product specifications to be confirmed.

TeapPOS is included among Epahubb's flagship products. However, its detailed functionality, pricing and intended customer segments require confirmation before specific product claims are made to prospective customers.

Businesses with sales and transaction-management needs may be considered as preliminary prospects, subject to confirmation of the product's actual capabilities.

3.3 Kromonline

Product Category: Website Development

Kromonline provides website development services. Customers can determine the type of website they require depending on their business activities and objectives.

Potential customers include:

- SMEs.
- Retail businesses.
- Hotels and hospitality businesses.
- Schools.
- Restaurants.
- Corporate organisations.
- Professional service providers.

Potential website projects include business websites, company websites, online stores and other customised website solutions.

Pricing: Varies depending on the type, functionality and requirements of the website.

3.4 BuyData

Product Category: Mobile Data Bundle Platform

BuyData is included as one of Epahubb's flagship products for mobile data bundle purchasing.

Potential prospects may include individuals, retailers and mobile phone shops, subject to confirmation of the platform's distribution and customer model.

The supported mobile networks, reseller arrangements, commission structure and other commercial terms are currently UNKNOWN.

These details should be confirmed before making specific commercial commitments to prospective customers.

4. PROSPECT CLASSIFICATION

The prospects have been classified according to their likely suitability for Epahubb's products.

High Priority: Organisations whose business activities closely match the intended customer category of a product.

Medium Priority: Organisations that may benefit from a product but require further assessment to establish their specific needs.

Low Priority: Organisations whose suitability or purchasing requirements are not yet sufficiently established.

These classifications are preliminary research assessments and do not indicate confirmed purchase interest.

8. PRODUCT-BASED PROSPECT SEGMENTATION

The 50 prospects can be divided into the following product categories.

8.1 Epasmart Prospects

The following educational institutions are potential customers:

1. Marthin Luther Complex.
2. Lighthouse Preparatory School.
3. Good Foundation International School.
4. Emmanuel Presby Academy.
5. Saint Paul's International School.
6. Living Foundation International School.
7. Amazing International School.
8. Belge Hopeland Educational Complex.
9. Royal Nicky's Academy.
10. Hilltop School.
11. Maria Montessori School.
12. Palmar International School.
13. Makeibel Schools Ghana.
14. Agassi Memorial School.

Recommended Approach: Contact the Headmasters, School Administrators or Proprietors to introduce Epasmart and arrange product demonstrations.

8.2 TeapPOS Prospects

Potential retail, hospitality and service-sector prospects include:

1. Nana Mensah's Mart.
2. Billbarbs Pharmacy.
3. Solo Barbering Shop.
4. Ayeforo Beauty Parlour.
5. Tongyina Hotel.
6. Next Level Beauty Salon.
7. Cindy Cosmetics Shop.
8. Pharmleads Pharmacy.
9. G's Sip and Bite.
10. TABS Enterprise.
11. Chobolobo Ent. Ltd.
12. Auduluxe Enterprise.

13. Wide Trend World Enterprise.
14. Paradise Phones Enterprise.
15. Galaxy Store GH.
16. Lordrop Phones and Accessories.
17. Oman Berlyn GH Ltd.
18. Agyengo Enterprise.

Recommended Approach: First confirm TeapPOS's functionality and target business category. Then approach business owners and managers to assess their sales and transaction-management needs.

8.3 Kromonline Prospects

Potential customers include:

- SMEs.
- Retail businesses.
- Hotels.
- Restaurants.
- Professional service providers.
- Educational institutions.
- Healthcare organisations.
- Trading companies.

The website development service can be introduced to prospects that need a professional online presence, improved customer communication or online sales facilities.

Recommended Approach: Identify whether each prospect already has a website, assess its current online presence and ask what type of website would best support its objectives.

8.4 BuyData Prospects

Potential prospects include mobile phone retailers and other businesses that may be interested in mobile data bundle services.

Examples from the research include:

1. Paradise Phones Enterprise.
2. Galaxy Store GH.
3. Lordrop Phones and Accessories.
4. Nana Mensah's Mart.
5. Agyengo Enterprise.

Recommended Approach: Confirm BuyData's reseller arrangements, supported networks, registration process and profit structure before approaching these businesses with a specific partnership proposal.

9. PRIORITY AND CONVERSION STRATEGY

The following approach is recommended for progressing the prospects.

High Priority

Schools, established retail businesses and organisations with a clear potential fit for Epahubb's products should receive early attention.

Medium Priority

Businesses that may benefit from the products but whose requirements are not yet established should be approached for further assessment.

Low Priority

Prospects whose product suitability is unclear should be retained in the database for future review.

The next stage should involve:

1. Contacting the identified decision-makers.
2. Introducing the relevant Epahubb product.
3. Establishing the organisation's current business processes.
4. Identifying challenges that the product could address.
5. Arranging product demonstrations.
6. Preparing customised quotations and proposals.
7. Following up to establish interest and conversion potential.

10. RECOMMENDATIONS

The following recommendations are proposed:

10.1 Conduct Product Demonstrations

Epahubb should organise demonstrations of its flagship products for interested organisations, particularly schools and businesses with relevant operational needs.

10.2 Develop Product-Specific Marketing Materials

Separate brochures and presentations should be prepared for Epasmart, TeapPOS, Kromonline and BuyData to clearly communicate their respective benefits.

10.3 Establish a Prospect Management System

All identified prospects should be recorded in a central database containing contact details, decision-makers, product interests, engagement history and follow-up dates.

10.4 Verify Missing Contact Information

Organisations with missing email addresses, locations or decision-maker names should be researched further before formal proposals are sent.

10.5 Maintain Consistent Follow-up

Regular communication should be maintained with prospective customers to identify interest, arrange demonstrations and progress commercial discussions.

10.6 Confirm Product and Commercial Details

The functionality, pricing and distribution arrangements of TeapPOS and BuyData should be clearly established before large-scale customer acquisition activities begin.

11. CONCLUSION

The prospective customer research exercise has produced a list of 50 organisations and businesses that could potentially benefit from Epahubb's flagship products.

The identified prospects represent different sectors within the Ashanti Region, providing opportunities for Epahubb to expand its customer base across education, retail, hospitality, healthcare and other business categories.

Epasmart has a clear potential customer segment among educational institutions, while Kromonline can be introduced to organisations seeking professional website development services.

TeapPOS and BuyData also present potential market opportunities, although further confirmation of their commercial specifications will help improve prospect targeting.

The immediate next step should be to validate the outstanding contact information, engage the identified decision-makers, demonstrate relevant products and convert suitable prospects into actual business customers.
